

SENATOR HEYBURN RESTING EASILY

Good Care Expected to Save Him From Operation.

TO FRAME INSURANCE BILL

Will Probably See President About Measure for Federal Control as Soon as He Recovers.

Senator Weldon B. Heyburn, of Idaho, who has been at Stoneleigh Court for the last few days, suffering from appendicitis, was reported last night to be resting easily.

The Senator's condition is not regarded as serious, but all possible care is being taken to prevent any complications. A doctor and a trained nurse are in constant attendance.

Senator Heyburn is a man of powerful physique, and it is thought that his wonderful strength would be of great assistance to him in an operation. From his present condition, he will probably not have to undergo the knife, however.

The Senator came here a few days ago from New York and was taken directly from the station to his apartments, having been stricken on the train.

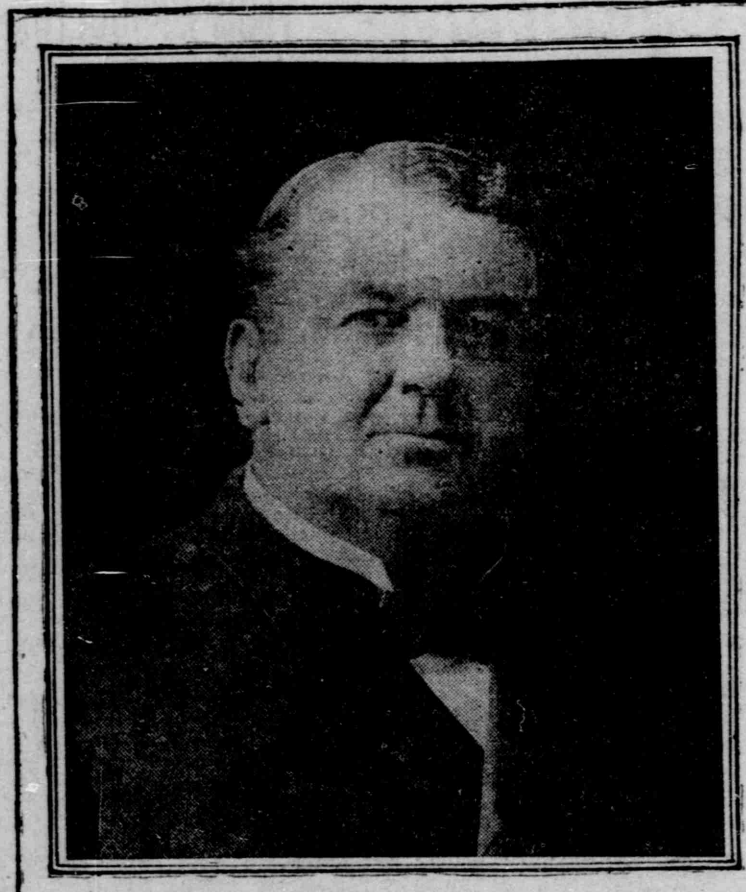

When Congress adjourned last March it was said Senator Heyburn would be the man selected to draft a bill for the control of insurance by the Federal Government. It is likely that upon his recovery the Senator will consult the President and the party leaders and will introduce the bill at the coming session of Congress.

CARSON BROUGHT BACK ON CHARGE OF THEFT

Detective Cliff Grant, of the Central Office, returned to Washington last night from Baltimore with Edward Carson, wanted here on a charge of larceny. The prisoner will be heard in the Police Court tomorrow.

Several days ago Matthew Fahey, of 613 Louisiana avenue northwest, reported to Captain Boardman that some one stole from his apartments a suit of clothes, a hat, and a pair of patent leather shoes. He said he suspected Carson, because the latter, who was a roomer in the house, disappeared simultaneously with that of the missing wearing apparel. Grant was assigned to the case, and after some clever work located his man in Baltimore.

HACKETT'S STORY MEETS REBUFF

New Phase in Barry Garrison Withdrawal.

SOME STRENUOUS CHARGES

Court-Martial Story Aired by Those Who Know Conditions as They Exist.

Officers of the Army and Navy Union in this city are discussing with some command the announcement of Commander Michael Hackett, of Barry Garrison, No. 25, that his organization has withdrawn from the national body and will join forces with the Regular Army and navy union as a result of the election of Col. J. Edwin Browne to the office of commander-in-chief at the recent convention held at Newburgh, N. Y.

The officers of Roosevelt Garrison, as well as members of Barry Garrison, assert that Commander Hackett's action is the result of jealousy, and that the secession of the garrison is not in accordance with the rules of the union, and that the majority of the members will not sustain their commander.

Alleged False Statement.

Joseph J. Gordon, Jr., commander of Roosevelt Garrison, in discussing the matter last night, said:

"Commander Hackett's statement in today's papers to the effect that Colonel Browne was dishonorably expelled from Barry Garrison is absolutely false.

"At the time Colonel Browne was a member of Barry Garrison his relations with Commander Hackett were far from friendly. It is true that Commander Browne was court-martialed, and he subsequently severed his connection with the organization. The court-martial, however, was nothing but a 'railroad' affair, and illegal in every respect. The rules of the union are that a commander of a garrison has the authority to call a court-martial, but before any sentence can be imposed the sanction of the national corps must be obtained. Commander Browne's court-martial caused considerable comment in the national corps at the time, and to settle the affair National Commander Hugh H. Henry and John Schumacker, adjutant general of the union, came to Washington to make an investigation. In the meantime, however, Commander Hackett had never made any official report to the national corps, and his action was never officially sanctioned.

"Commander-in-Chief Henry settled the controversy by giving Colonel Browne an honorable transfer to Roosevelt Garrison, and the matter was dropped.

Pension Office Branch Now Fully Organized

Elects Officers of Retirement Association. Chief Clerk Bayly President—Movement Booming.

The Pension Office branch of the United States Civil Retirement Association was permanently launched yesterday afternoon by the election of officers for the ensuing year.

William H. Bayly, chief clerk of the bureau, was elected president of the branch association, with Dr. Sam Houston, vice president; T. M. Dawson, secretary, and John W. Watson, treasurer. The meeting was presided over by Jacob W. Starr, president of the parent organization, with Dr. Ash as acting secretary.

Hundreds Join.

Dr. William Ash, of the Pension Office, who has been at work organizing this branch for some time, at yesterday's meeting reported that the signatures of 600 employees were attached to the membership roll.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan, of the Treasury branch, one of the most potent of the large army of civil service employees seeking legislation that will retire superannuated or disabled employees, addressed the meeting, and gave a general outline of the promising outlook for the ultimate success of the project.

The meeting then adjourned to await the call of the newly-elected president.

All Departments Active.

Organizations in the Department of Agriculture, Land Office, Navy Department, Postoffice, Department of Justice, Interior, and War Departments are being rounded into form. President Starr said after the meeting that in the course of a few weeks he hoped to have branch organizations in every department of the Government service, excepting the State Department. The people who are organizing these various branch associations are T. R. Magee, Department of Justice; W. W. Hite, Interior; Mrs. Jennie L. Munroe, Land Office; C. C. Carroll, Agriculture; Nelson Falls, War; Sidney I. Bassellevre, Navy, and Joseph Stewart, of the Postoffice.

"The most cordial feeling prevails throughout the civil service employees," said President Starr yesterday, "and that alone accounts in a measure for the success in formulating a bill to be presented to Congress at its next session. It can be safely said that a bill which will meet the exacting conditions demanded by Congress will be framed.

Whole Country Interested.

"We have sent out over 50,000 pieces of mail during the last two months, and have received encouraging reports that the civil service employees throughout the country are only too eager to get in the band wagon and contribute to a scheme to retire their associates who have outgrown all usefulness."

The next public meeting held in the interest of the scheme will be held at the National Rifles Armory on the evening of October 27. The names of the speakers will be announced in the near future.

records show, that Colonel Browne's election was unanimous, not a single delegate being opposed to him."

Browne's Election Regular.

As evidence of the regularity of Colonel Browne's election at the Newburgh convention, William A. Hickey, of Roosevelt Garrison, has issued the following statement:

"I was an alternate from Roosevelt Garrison, of this city, to the Newburgh N. Y. convention, which unanimously elected Col. J. Edwin Browne national commander of the Army and Navy Union, and any statement that the convention was irregular and unauthorized is misleading. Maj. S. J. Block, of the Admiral D. D. Porter Garrison, who was a delegate to the convention, verifies this statement, and concurs with me in this for publication.

"Let those who are disgruntled over the outcome of the convention say what they may."

"WILLIAM A. HICKEY."

WANNAMAKER SCHOOL BOON TO APPLICANTS

Those Desirous of Taking Civil Service Examinations May Make Application for Information.

A new school has been added to Washington's list of institutions. It is the Wannamaker School, conducted by Fred Wannamaker, a former United States civil service examiner. It is devoted exclusively to preparation of applicants for civil service examinations. Mr. Wannamaker's connection with the Civil Service Commission dates from August 10, 1894, he having been selected from the eligible register when the commission was composed of Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Procter, and Mr. Leman. Mr. Wannamaker voluntarily resigned to establish the Wannamaker School, for the purpose of giving legitimate instruction to persons seeking Federal positions through examinations. Not infrequently men and women appear before the civil service board who would make excellent employees for the Government, but who, having become rusty on the subjects submitted to them, fail to obtain certification for appointment. Others, no better fitted—possibly not so well—but who are posted on the commission's methods and style of questions, receive appointments. The intention of the civil service law and rules is to put efficient persons in official positions. When efficient persons who desire Government situations happen to be rusty on the questions that the Civil Service Commission propounds, it is their unbounded right and privilege to seek proper guidance and assistance through legitimate and reliable instruction. The offices of the Wannamaker School are in the Washington Loan and Trust Building, corner Ninth and E streets.

OTHER HIGH SCHOOL BOYS WENT TO HARVARD

That William B. Richard is the first boy to enter Harvard University direct from Washington high schools is denied by friends of Mrs. Anna J. Cooper, principal of the M Street High School. In a statement to The Times yesterday Mrs. A. M. Curtis, a patron of the M street school, said that French Tyson and Hugh Francis, both graduates from Mrs. Cooper's school, entered the university in the last two years without other preliminary coaching. The Francis boy, Mrs. Curtis said, is a son of Mrs. J. R. Francis, a member of the Board of Education.

THE crowning triumph of buttermaking has been reached in the production of Elk Grove Creamery Pasteurized Butter. It is a "Quality Butter" in the truest sense of the word and has met with success by deserving it. A little over two years ago Elk Grove Creamery Pasteurized Butter was first offered, and the people of Washington were afforded the first opportunity of testing its merits. The instant favor it met with was a tribute befitting its excellence and demonstrated that the wise and critical public appreciates merit in Butter and is ready to accord it the patronage it deserves. Since its first inception Elk Grove Creamery Pasteurized Butter has grown steadily in favor and stands today foremost as the best and leading Butter on the market. The cream from which it is made is from the finest bred Jersey cows, whose milk contains from 5 to 5 1/2 per cent butter fat. The creamery in which Elk Grove Creamery Pasteurized Butter is made is situated in the heart of the famous Elgin district. Its makers are picked men who have devoted years to buttermaking and are skilled in the art of making a most perfect Butter. The most stringent care is used through every step of the making of this pure Butter, so that it is positively free from all germs and impurities.

After the production of Elk Grove Butter, its producers, foreseeing the necessity of having a means to properly guard it from contamination when kept in proximity with fruit and the like, devised an airtight carton which the severest tests proved to be superior to any other method of putting up butter. This carton preserves the butter and keeps it fresh and nice indefinitely. If you have not tried Elk Grove Creamery Pasteurized Butter, do so at once. It will insinuate itself into your favor by satisfying your most exacting demands.

Look for the Elk Head

When you buy Elk Grove Creamery Pasteurized Butter "Look for the Elk Head," it's stamped on the wrapper of every pound of Elk Grove Butter—none genuine without it. Similar designed packages are being used by would-be competitors, but by exercising a little care you can easily detect the fraud. They may imitate the package and design, but they are lost on the quality Elk Grove Creamery Pasteurized Elgin Butter has attained.
